It comes with a tabbed interface and a quick instruction for beginner can learn how to create what they need. After creating a project, you can run in a cross-platform way if you want to create websites (Windows/Linux/Android) and also if you want to create an app (Windows/Linux/Android/iOS). Release of endogenous creatinine and the effect of protein intake on whole blood hematocrit in periparturient Holstein cows. Because of the relative stability of intracellular free creatine concentration, assessment of creatine excretion in urine and feces as a function of protein intake can provide an indication of whole body creatine turnover. The purpose of this experiment was to study the release of endogenous creatinine during the periparturient period and the effect of dietary protein on whole blood hematocrit in periparturient cows. Cows in the cyclical high and low protein groups were fed diets containing either 3.2 or 2.0% dietary protein, respectively, during the first 200 d before breeding; thereafter, both diets were fed from d 194 through initiation of parturition. Cows fed the high protein diet had greater plasma creatinine concentrations than did those fed the low protein diet, but the difference was marginal. Concentrations of both plasma and urinary creatinine were similar during the last 8 d of the dry period. We concluded that endogenous creatinine release is consistent over the periparturient period, but that the levels observed are not sufficiently great to be useful for monitoring changes in protein metabolism over that time. Dietary protein appeared to have no effect on whole blood hematocrit during the first 5 d of lactation.Dmitri Khachaturov

A programmer should be able to create a web site and easily navigate between files to preview the result.Q: Wireless calling Android app Does anyone have an example code for implementing a phone call in Android so that when the button to call is pressed, the phone rings and if the number is answered a message is displayed on the screen in the form "Call from " username " on " number ". Thanks A: If you want to do call is just open a dialog and a callback method to handle call from that dialog. Dialog call = new Dialog(your_activity.this); call.setTitle("Call"); //give the call dialog some data call.setMessage("Who is calling?"); //setup the onclicklistener call.setOnDismissListener(new OnDismissListener() { @Override public void onDismiss() { String msg = "Call rejected"; Toast.makeText(MainActivity.this, msg, Toast.LENGTH_SHORT).show(); } }); call.show(); Q: jQuery; hasClass vs. attr I want to check if a given DIV has a given class. I used both hasClass and attr methods: if ($("#test").hasClass('foo')) { } if ($("#test").attr('foo')) { } What is the difference between them? Is there any disadvantage of using any? A: The first is better. The second has a larger overhead (if that is what you care about). The first performs much better in general, because it is a native jQuery method. Also, most hasClass functions are wrappers around using attr. See: A: To answer you the question, if you have this string in the class attribute of your div: "my-class" You can't compare strings with hasClass and attr, you need to use indexOf to find where you string is: if ($("#test").hasClass('my-class')) { //
