Renal doses in hemophilia therapy: updated recommendations. Optimization of care for patients with hemophilia is essential to prevent bleeding complications and to improve quality of life. Renal doses of prophylactic and on-demand infusions have become more complex owing to the availability of extended half-life recombinant coagulation factors, as well as the increasing use of high-purity factor products. In this paper we present an updated consensus on the dosing of prophylactic, on-demand and rescue therapies, with the aim of achieving an optimal balance between safety and efficacy. This paper aims to facilitate the safe and efficient use of coagulation products in clinical practice. Q: Extract a line from a file and place it in a new file Let's say that I have a csv file with the following structure: name1,key1,value1 name2,key2,value2 name3,key3,value3 I want to write the script in Python that would take a line from this file, write it in a new file, add an empty line at the end, and so on for the rest of the lines. The idea is to reduce the file size. I tried with the following script: filename = 'key1,value1,key2,value2,key3,value3' with open(filename
