In the last week, Catron County have reported about eleven thousand dollars of these protests. Humanistic Observer Online published an article stating it had learned that members of the group delivered themselves of an intensive course in radical abortion techniques, and how to hide both the unborn children and their bodies at the conclusion of the procedure. Many protestors from the 'moral crusaders' were seen in front of the church at Colorado Springs as well as the Colorado Department of Health. Although some of these protestors have in the past, mainly in the 1970's, protested abortion, they now protest the church and its teachings concerning abortion. These protests are not entirely new, as similar protests have also taken place during the 1970's in support of the same group. During that era, these
