I just asked my bank to give me a credit card application, which I will submit and they will charge me for the process. But how can I ask for a credit card application without a reference number? What exactly do I need to provide in the "application" section? I have a passport with me, so they can easily verify the identity. Also, my country is a part of the EU, so they already have a credit card application from me already. I'm a bit confused here, because I assume it's like submitting an application in the first place. So how do I start? A: According to the official website, credit card applications start at £24, and they will charge you for the process. You can find the application on the "receive and manage your credit cards" page.
