My problem is that my DVD player don't show the special effects that my surround system have. It only shows a regular dvd-5 . If I insert a normal DVD the special effects show. My dvd player is a Â® BMW 528IÂ . Is that the problem? If it is, could you please tell me if there is a way to fix that without having to change the player or my

DVD/CD. Thank you very much for your help. PS: I'm Brazilian. A: There are probably a couple reasons that your DVD player may not recognize the DTS track. First, it's a really old player, and sometimes old DVD players don't always read all the new specs. More likely, you have a DVD region code that the player can't recognize. DVD region codes come in ranges from 1 to 9. If the DVD is region 2, then your player needs to read the code in the "symbol" area of the DVD. The codes there are 0000...0005 or thereabouts. If the DVD is region 1, then the codes there are 0001...0005. Regions 1 and 2 are the most common, and there are lots of regions throughout the world. You can read more about region codes here. If your DVD player can't read the region codes, it will not play the DVD. It's entirely possible that the player is unable to play any DVD, and it's easy to test this by playing the DVD in another player. Q:

How to change the background color of the RecyclerView? How to change the background color of the RecyclerView? A: You have to set the background of the RecyclerView as below. You can also set the background color of the item and its item layout background as below:
