One of the most powerful components of GcSpread is the ability to create user defined functions, which enable application developers to create user specific functions without coding or editing the base spreadsheet. Functions can be used like any other spreadsheet function or they can be used as custom data links for data streaming from other application using the DataLink component. A sample function is the "Performe' function, which lets the user select a range of cells and a fill color and then use the Fill and Format functions to create a filled area. GcSpread provides backward compatibility for your existing VSTO Excel addins so they work with GcSpread. The API is also very similar so existing code works with minimal change. However, as you are starting a new project using GcSpread you will have the benefit of a highly stable product. It is designed to work with the new extensions model and the new Visual Studio experience which is designed to focus on your code and your code alone. GcSpread VSTO is an add-in that includes all the components of GcSpread to create a spreadsheet application for VSTO add-ins. GcSpread.VSTO comes in two editions. The Limited Edition is free but does not offer support. The Professional Edition includes development tools and support. GcSpread's Shared Source Edition allows any user to create custom functions and modify the product. GcSpread includes its own Script Editor. Once a user has a working understanding of the product they can modify anything they wish. GcSpread is an add-in component. It is not an installer that you run. You create an add-in using a dedicated IDE. GcSpread is licensed under the commercial or single user purchase option of the Commercial License Agreement. The Commercial License Agreement grants you the right to install and use GcSpread within your organization or on a network of your choosing, and grant others in the same network the right to use it. You should not install GcSpread on your client computers. The Commercial License Agreement requires registration and payment.

Osprey backpacks come in different sizes, shapes, and colors to satisfy almost every kind of traveler. They are lightweight, durable, and pleasant with a simple design! The Osprey Farpoint backpack has two great features suitcase opening and a well-padded suspension system that hiking and trekking backpacks have. One of the main reasons I chose Osprey Farpoint 55 backpack is that the main pack is a 40L bag with a detachable daypack of 15L. This comes so handy! I dont have to take another purse and a camera bag with me when I wander the streets of the city I am exploring. I can put everything valuable in that day pack and not worry about being robbed back in a hotel or hostel I am staying. Hi! You can find the examples and detailed instructions here: Calculate the difference between two dates in days, weeks, months or years. To convert days to tenths of a month, divide by 30. I hope I answered your question. If something is still unclear, please feel free to ask.
